

FOOD FOR THE HUNGRY

Media Contact:
Mike Schatz
615-403-2113

For Immediate Release

Miami Dolphins Safety Michael Thomas Partners with Food for the Hungry

Nashville, Tenn. - Feb. 27, 2017 - Miami Dolphins safety Michael Thomas has joined hands with international nonprofit Food for the Hungry as a Pro Player Partner. Under the new partnership, Thomas and his wife, Gloria, will introduce and connect fans to Food for the Hungry and share with them its mission to end poverty worldwide, giving their audience a glimpse into the long-term investments the organization is making in communities around the world.

“It’s not okay that there are still children in the world who don’t know where their next meal is coming from. It’s not okay that there are still communities without clean water,” Thomas said. “I promised myself as a child if I achieved my dream of making it in the NFL, I would use my resources to give back to the community. We have been so blessed, and we want to use what we have been given to help others.”

Food for the Hungry provides innovative, community-specific resources to vulnerable people in more than 20 countries, equipping them to invest in their own development and empowering them to thrive.

To learn more about Thomas’ partnership with Food for the Hungry, visit his Pro Player Partner page.

About Food for the Hungry

Inspired and led by our Christian beliefs, we faithfully serve vulnerable people across the globe without regard to race, creed or nationality and without adverse distinction of any kind. We serve without stipulation or expectation and on the basis of need alone. We strive to respect the culture and customs of the people we serve in order to preserve their humanity and dignity. For more information, visit www.fh.org.