

A Story of Generosity

Salome and her son, Said, live in Villa Margarita, Bolivia. Thanks to the generosity of donors, FH helped them build and manage a coop with chickens that produce eggs for the family. Before the chickens, Said had low height and weight. Now his mom says, "Thank God he is recovering and improving in height and weight from eating eggs. He is gaining weight and he likes to eat eggs because he says that they taste better than those sold in the store."
